

Contents

1. Introduction	1
Plasma lipids and lipoproteins	1
Cholesterol	3
Lipid risk-factor profiles	7
2. Who and what to test	11
Screening/case finding	11
What issues should the general practitioner (GP) cover during the 10-minute consultation?	12
Is the patient at high absolute CV risk?	44
3. How to manage the patient with dyslipidaemia	50
Who to treat?	50
How to treat?	50
General lifestyle advice	50
Serum lipids and dyslipidaemia	55
Which patient groups require special consideration?	64
4. Person-centred care	66
How to identify the patient's beliefs about CVD (their concerns and expectations)?	66
What are the patient's cultural beliefs?	67
How to recognise nonconcordance with primary prevention?	68
How can concordance with primary prevention be improved?	69
Are any treatments particularly appropriate?	71

5. Applying the evidence	73
What are the implications of the international best-practice guidelines for GPs?	73
Selected landmark studies	74
GP prescribing options for tackling dyslipidaemia in primary care: a summary	78
When to refer?	78
6. Review and recall	83
What ongoing patient care, monitoring and follow-up are necessary?	83
What role do other key healthcare workers have in managing the patient?	84
What is the role of information technology (IT)?	86
What is the role of the expert patient?	86
Further reading	87